Don't Let the Republicans Sell Us Out

Selling Out to the Utility Companies

Gov. Perry and the Republican legislature have allowed the big utility companies to raise our utility rates as high as they want, and Texans are paying the price. The Republicans even eliminated a fund that protected seniors from skyrocketing rate increases. Since January 2002, electric utility rates have gone up over 80%, and now Texans are paying some of the highest utility rates in the country.¹

Selling Out Our Health Care

Republicans cut our state Children's Health Insurance Program budget. Then they turned it over to a politically connected foreign company from Bermuda that mismanaged the program. As a result, 230,000 Texas children lost health care coverage and can't see a doctor when they're sick.²

Selling Us Out for the Tran-Texas Corridor

After they hired a lobbyist who used to work on Gov. Perry's staff, a Spanish company got the green light to build the Trans-Texas Corridor (TTC). Thanks to their political connections and contributions to Republican politicians, this foreign company got permission to take over 600,000 acres of Texans' private property. Once the TTC is built, we'll be paying over $40 to drive from Dallas to San Antonio.³
